

Bolivia Power Storage Vehicle Customization Manufacturer

Overview

Can Bolivia become a green energy superpower?

The partnership between MOBI and EnergyX highlights the thriving innovation environment in Bolivia, and will take the country one step closer to becoming a green energy superpower.

Does Bolivia have a car industry?

With 11.6 million people and the lowest GDP per capita in South America with the exception of Venezuela, the market is small. Bolivia has no existing car manufacturing industry — in fact, it has little industry of any kind. It tends to export commodities, such as gas, gold, and soy, and import manufactured goods.

Can Bolivia become a global powerhouse in electric micro-mobility?

MOBI CEO Ariel Revollo: “Latin America has the capacity to become a global powerhouse in electric micro-mobility, and we believe Bolivia can be the leader of this transition.

Can you make a car in Bolivia?

Quantum became a legal entity in July 2019. But making a car in Bolivia, even a tiny electric one, is no mean feat. With 11.6 million people and the lowest GDP per capita in South America with the exception of Venezuela, the market is small. Bolivia has no existing car manufacturing industry — in fact, it has little industry of any kind.

Will quantum provide free electricity to Bolivia's public charging stations?

But, so far, it has limited itself to publicity moves. Quantum attended last year's Dubai Expo, and there has been mention of providing free electricity — already cheap — to Bolivia's few public charging stations in the near future.

Could a tiny car start a small revolution in Bolivia?

But over in Cochabamba, one of Bolivia's largest cities and home to Quantum, the company's founders believe their tiny cars could start a tiny revolution, both in electric vehicles and Bolivian manufacturing — and make Quantum a force in Latin America's shift to electromobility.
