Overview

Do solar panels need cleaning?

There are some instances where solar panels might need cleaning, but most of the evidence says solar panels are self-sufficient and low-maintenance. We'll get to the best way to clean your solar panels in a minute.

Should I hire a professional to clean my solar panels?

If you don't want to clean your panels yourself, you can pay professionals to do it. Before hiring a professional service to clean your solar panels, check your solar contract to see if cleaning is included in your maintenance agreement.

What is solar panel cleaning?

Solar panel cleaning is the most common maintenance performed on residential photovoltaic (PV) energy systems, especially those in dry or windy areas. When dirt, dust, debris, or animal droppings accumulate on the surface of your solar panels, blocked sunlight can significantly reduce their energy production.

Do photovoltaic solar panels need maintenance?

In France, there is sufficient wind and rain to adequately clean and rinse off photovoltaic solar installations, but you may also wipe down the panels with a sponge if you wish. As far as maintenance is concerned, it serves to remind that photovoltaic solar panels do not require any special technical maintenance. That's right.

How often should solar panels be cleaned?

Frequent cleansing may be necessary in the presence of smoke, pollen, pollution, debris, and detritus. In most locations, occasional rain is enough to clean solar panels naturally and free of anything that might lower their photovoltaic (PV) output. Periodic thorough cleansing of your panels can still increase their photovoltaic output.

Do bifacial solar panels need to be cleaned?

For example, bifacial solar panels may need cleaning on both sides. When cleaning, treat your solar panels like you would a pair of glasses. Debris is temporary and can be carefully removed, but a scratch is permanent. If you do clean your panels, here are some things to keep in mind:
